Close Call At R.R. Crossing

A sharp-eyed Lowell Junction teen-ager probably saved her own and her father's lives last Sunday morning at a Lowell Junction railroad crossing.

Elaine Glorioso spotted a freight train bearing down on the family car, as it crossed the tracks. Her father, Joseph A. Glorioso, was able to speed up just enough to avoid a broadside collision. The train struck the car on the right rear fender and pushed it 36 feet along the railroad right of way. The car came to rest against a shack and both father and daughter were able to leave the vehicle unaided.

The private crossing where the accident took place has no warning devices. The roadway leads to a sparsely-settled section. A similar accident there claimed the life of a motorist some years ago.

Both Elaine and her father were taken to the Lawrence General Hospital in the Fire Department ambulance. Elaine, with possible neck injuries and an elbow contusion, was discharged after treatment. Her father was admitted for observation. Authorities said his injuries included a right cheek fracture, lacerations about the mouth and right cheek and a separation of the right shoulder.

Patrolmen Calvin Deyermond and William Tammany said the

Urban Renewal Plans Described By Expert

Preliminary studies were beginning this week to find out whether Andover is qualified to receive federal Urban Renewal funds.

Professional consultants have been retained by the Merrimack Valley National Bank, whose offer to donate these services to the town was accepted by the voters at town meeting in March.

Frank Maloney, representing the firm of Candeub and Fleissig of New Jersey, described his firm's operation and details of the federal program during a meeting April 10. On hand were members of a Citizens' Committee appointed by the Housing Authority, members of that Authority, Selectmen and Planning Board members.

The Housing Authority has prime responsibility for the project and appointed the larger group as an advisory body, representative of the entire town.

Although the first steps began this week, Committee members were told that it might be 1960 before final federal approval is

Health Board Plans Pest Control Week

The Andover Board of Health will sponsor a pest control program during the week of May 5.

Such common plant pests as poison ivy, poison oak, ragweed, crabgrass and dandelions can be properly controlled by agents that are readily available. Insect pests such as flies, mosquitoes, ticks, ants and plant pests can be eradi-

Band Concert Is April 25

The Band Parents Association of the All-Girl Band is actively engaged with arrangements for the April 25th concert of the Band with the Andover Male choir.

The members of the band are canvassing their neighborhoods this week in a bid for public support of their efforts. The success of the concert will provide funds for supplying the band with proper equipment. Many of the instruments now in use are in need of repair and replacement.

At the regular meeting of the Band Parents April 8, hostesses for the evening were Mrs. A. L. Rairigh, Mrs. Robert Grange and Mrs. Raymond Mowat.

The Concert committee met April 15 at the home of Mrs. Edward Johanson on Lincoln st.

There will be another meeting of the Band Parents at the Junior High School Tuesday, April 22, at 8 p.m.

The Band is scheduled to appear in Winchester May 3 for the Eastern Division of Music Educators, in competition with organizations from other communities.

23 Bid On Water Main Improvement

Board of Public Works members were amazed Monday night, as 23 bids were received for installation of 7100 feet of water main.

And they also expressed pleased surprise when the bids were opened, disclosing a low figure of $19,678.45 by A. D'Alessandro and Sons, Inc.

Consulting Engineer Joseph Lawler had estimated the low bid might be about $25,000 for this major improvement to the high level system.

Igoe Appointed Guidance Director

WILLIAM J. IGOE

The Andover School Committee, at its meeting April 8, unanimously elected William J. Igoe to the position of director of guidance for the Andover Public Schools to succeed Bernard M. Kellmurray, who has resigned the post in order to assume a full-time teaching schedule in the Andover High School English Department.

Mr. Igoe has been serving as Guidance Counselor for boys in the senior high school since shortly after he joined the Andover system in the fall of 1953. Prior to that time, he had taught Social Studies and done guidance work at Lisbon High School in Maine. He studied at Colby College and Boston University, receiving both the bachelor's and master's degrees from the latter institution. In his graduate work, Mr. Igoe majored in guidance and was awarded his master's degree in that field. He has worked in close association with Mr. Kellmurray and has thus become thoroughly acquainted with the total guidance program, which extends throughout the school system from kindergarten through grade twelve. As director of guidance, he will have general supervision over all guidance and counselling activities and will be in charge of test programs administered throughout all grades. The supervision of testing has become a more demanding service of late, with the introduction of various new programs being conducted nationally for both admission and scholarships aid for colleges and independent secondary schools. The duties also extend to all grades in conferences about individual pupils in need of special help, in which cases the guidance director works with the elementary school principals and any other persons or agencies which may be of assistance.

In addition to these educational and clinical duties, the work of the position includes some responsibility for liason with the armed forces, with representatives of other schools and colleges and with industry. In the latter instance, Mr. Igoe has already had considerable experience, having had charge of industrial placement at the high school during the past two years.

In entering upon his new position, Mr. Igoe will be in charge of one of the oldest formally organized guidance departments in the commonwealth, now in its 18th consecutive year of operation. Other personnel include the deans of girls in the junior and senior high schools, as well as a counselor for boys in both schools.

Mr. Igoe, a native of Lawrence, resides on Vine st. with his wife, the former Regina Kyle and four children. He is, at present, vice-president of the Merrimack Valley Guidance Association and is supervisor of the Andover center of the College Entrance Examination Board.

In class 1, a single egg painted with a design or picture, the winners were as follows: for grades 1-3, first prize, Raymond Hunt, second, Paul Parrotta, honorable mention, Edward McCarthy. Grades 4-6 awards went to Nancy Disbrow, first, Bridget Parsons, second and Augustine Caffrey, honorable mention. A special adult award went to Mrs. H.W. Morse. In class 2, for single eggs decorated with paints and other materials, such as paper, cloth, etc., awards were as follows: grades 1-3, first, Joan Wrigley, second, Bonnie Schmidt, honorable mention, Ruth Anderson; grades 4-6, first, Carol Eastman, second, Linda Bourdelais, honorable mention, Jean Blamire. For grades 7-9 in this class, first, Geraldine Pelletier, second, Martha Darling, honorable mention, Sharon Suche. One contestant entered a "double" egg, which won special mention; this was Geraldine Winters.

The young puppet players presented a shadow play "The Country Bunny." While Miss Lane told the story of the mother Bunny who taught her children to help in keeping their home neat and tidy, the players showed the action behind the screen.

Prizes were cookies shaped like rabbits, with each carrying a real egg baked into a pocket on the side of the rabbit, just like the cookies baked in the book "The Egg Tree", the story responsible for the library egg tree contest each year.

Judges for the contest were Mrs. Geoffrey Glendinning, Mrs. H. Earle Shaw, Jr. and Mrs. Thaxter Eaton.

Garden Club Join Library For Garden Week

An interesting group of flower arrangements were on view at the library all during Garden Book Week. Several members of the Andover Garden Club, under the direction of Mrs. Charles Arnold, brought beautiful spring arrangements to grace the tables, bookshelves and desk.

Early in the week Mrs. Jerome Cross, Jr., Mrs. Ernest Wilkinson and Mrs. Edwin Bramley joined Mrs. Arnold in beautifying the main reading room with daffodils, pussy willows, iris and pear blossoms. Visitors near the end of the week saw the work of Mrs. J. M. Stewart, a bowl of purple heather, statice, huckleberry and purple anemones, and a second arrangement by Mrs. Arnold, bronzed garnet chrysanthemums with begonia leaves.

Displays of flowers such as these bring delighted comments from fellow gardeners and the non-gardeners, too, who are just a little weary of winter and ready for spring. A new book on the art of selection, arrangement and use of color in flowers was on display during the week: Mrs. Raymond Stoltz' "Flower Show Ribbon-Winning Arrangements." This book may be reserved at any time.

Children's Book Awards

The two prizes for children's books, the Newbery and Caldecott medals, have been announced recently. The Newbery prize for the most distinguished book written for children in 1957, was won by Harold Keith for his "Rifles For Watie." The best picture book of the year was Robert McCloskey's "Time Of Wonder." This is the second time that the Caldecott award has gone to Robert McCloskey; the first to win him this coveted honor was the delightful story "Make Way For Ducklings", always a great favorite with young readers.

Copies of the books listed here may be borrowed from the Memorial Hall Library and the Ballardvale branch.

ENTERTAIN GROUPS

Mrs. Harold Freeman recently entertained the members of the Philathea Class of the Calvary Baptist Church at her home on Virginia rd. FUR REPAIRING FACTORY ON PREMISES

Proposes Coordinated Recreation Facilities

All residents interested in the town's recreational program — both on the playgrounds during the summer and the school-sponsored programs — have been invited to attend a meeting next Wednesday night at 7:30 at the Andover Youth Center.

Donald D. Dunn, director of physical education for the public schools, suggested the meeting to determine whether all groups and individuals can combine their efforts to make maximum use of present facilities. The group would also, as Dunn sees it, take steps to ask the town for added facilities in years to come.

The Recreation Committee, Dunn said, is in favor of exploring the possibilities and will send a representative to the meeting. The Board of Public Works, who now has charge of the physical facilities, also has been invited and has agreed to send one of its members.

Dunn also listed the Little League, Junior League, New England League, the School Department and the Boosters Club as interested organizations.

All other residents with an interest in improving the use of facilities and coordinating activities are welcome at the session, he said.

Dunn explained that there now is no single coordinating group, with the result that schedules conflict, present facilities tend to become inadequate and other athletic facilities, needed for a well-rounded program, are not available.

URBAN RENEWAL PLAN DESCRIBED

obtained for a renewal project. At least two steps of the program require town meeting approval.

Must OK Application

The work now being done by the consultants must be OK'd by town meeting, before the application for a renewal project can be formally presented to the government agency. Although the firm can finish this phase of the work in 30-60 days, Committee members were informed that it may be necessary to call a special town meeting in the fall rather than this spring.

Action will come, at that meeting, on approving the area chosen by the consultants and Housing Authority for a renewal project. Once the area has been established and approved, application can be made to the government.

If approved, detailed studies, plans and cost estimates must be prepared. The government pays for this work, without municipal financial participation of any kind. And at any time during this stage, right up to final town meeting approval of a contract with the government for the actual work, the town may abandon the project without financial obligation. Once a final contract is approved however, the cost of the planning stage is added to the over-all project cost.

Two Thirds Payment

Federal funds are available under this program, to the extent of paying two-thirds of net costs. This figure is obtained by figuring the entire cost of land purchases, demolition of buildings, plans and all other administrative costs, less the income received from the sale of the cleared land.

Thus, if $2,000,000 is the over-all cost and land sales bring in $800,000, the total net cost will be $1,200,000. Federal money pays for two-thirds of this and the town would pay $400,000.

But this might not be a cash outlay. Mr. Maloney explained that, for example, the town hall and fire station could fall within the renewal area. Money received by the town for this cleared area might nearly balance out the town's obligation. Other municipal services provided — such as roads into a renewed area, sewer lines or demolition work performed by town crews — would be listed to the town's credit, thus reducing the cash obligation.

In any event, the consultant said additional tax revenue, from the sale and re-use of the land, will pay off any municipal cost in seven to 11 years. This time span is a national average, he explained, but in some communities increased tax revenues have paid for the town's share of the project in a shorter time.

Plans Take Time

Mr. Maloney said his firm, while needing only 30 to 60 days for the preliminary study, may need a year or more for complete plans, if it is retained for that job.

To date, the firm has been retained only for the preliminary application work. If a town meet- approves this application and federal authority is forthcoming, the Housing Authority, or a special Renewal Authority, would have power to retain consultants for the advanced plans.

The problem with special town meetings was cited, both as to obtaining a quorum and the appropriation of funds at a special meeting. If a special meeting gave its approval to the application sometime this year, it would be doubtful whether the advanced plans could be ready for action at the annual meeting in March, 1959. And the Committee was told that there is some question whether final action, which involves approving expenditures, could be acted upon at a special town meeting later that year. Thus the possible date of 1960 was mentioned.

The meeting opened with comments by Housing Authority Chairman George Noury. Wallace Haseltine, executive vice president of the Merrimack Valley National Bank, presided. He commented that the bank, interested in the future of the town, had agreed to provide funds for the initial application planning, without any strings attached, and as a contribution to the community. He introduced Mr. Maloney, whose background includes working for the federal agency responsible for approving renewal projects.

Scouts Entertained At Bradlee PTA

The regular monthly meeting of the Ballardvale Parent Teacher Association was held last Thursday evening in the Bradlee school, with President James Gardner conducting the business meeting.

During the evening the Scout organizations of Ballardvale put on an interesting program.

Den 5 Cub Scouts presented the flag ceremony and Brownie Troop 59 sang the Brownie song and then Jeanne Ellis read the Brownie story as members acted it out in shadowgrams.

Boy Scout Troop 76 gave a demonstration of first aid. The fifth grade Girl Scouts gave a demonstration on nutrition and the sixth grade Girl Scouts were hostesses, serving refreshments to the young people and then to the parents. All groups had their handicraft work on display.

Mrs. Donald Dustin and Mrs. Franklyn Haggerty were chosen co-chairmen of the banquet, when the sixth grade children will be guests. A collection was received for the Webber-Fiske Fund. Leo Goulet's room won the banner award. The boundary line for the pupils to attend the new school was up for discussion.

Scout leaders present included Girl Scout leaders, Mrs. Robert Dunn, Mrs. Robert Demers, Mrs. James Letters and Mrs. Robert Auchterlonie; Brownie leaders, Mrs. James Ellis, Mrs. George Quesenberry, Mrs. Ted Andrews and Mrs. Robert MacMackin; Scoutmaster James Butler and Den mother, Mrs. Henry Wrigley.

HEALTH BOARD PLANS WEEK

cated by the use of specific agents while rats and mice can be controlled by the proper use of baits and rodenticides.

The purpose of Pest Control Week is to make Andover a healthier town and since most pest control problems are actually problems of the home owner or tenant, the Board of Health is hoping that the townspeople will cooperate in making this an extensive pest eradication program.

The Board will sponsor an educational program featured by a panel discussion on insecticides, rodenticides and herbicides Monday evening, May 5, at 8 at the Central Elementary Auditorium.

The panelists will be:

Dr. Maynard W. Quimby, Massachusetts College of Pharmacy, Topic — Herbicides;

Harold D. Rose, field program supervisor, Massachusetts State Department of Public Health, Topic — Insecticides;

Henry Merril, regional supervisor, Fish and Wildlife Service, United States Government, Department of the Interior, Topic — Rodenticides.

The panel discussion will be moderated by Robert A. Walsh, chairman, Andover Board of Health.

The panelists are all experts in their particular field and they will each be alloted 15 minutes to introduce their topic. Following this brief introduction, the rest of the evening will be devoted to a question and answer period with audience participation.

Planning Now For Big Auction

Residents of the community have been urged to circle May 24 on their calendars, in order to make plans to attend "The Auction of Distinction" which will take place all that day, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., on the South Church grounds.

Since early in the year, the original planning committee, captained by Mrs. George Schmidt, has been working on the project. Her committee includes Mrs. Henry Van Zandt, Mrs. Arthur Bairigh, Mrs. Charles Bennett, Mrs. John Lux, Mrs. J.J. Tavern, Mrs. Joseph Senuta, Mrs. George Glennie and Mrs. Lindsay March and Mrs. Ralph Hill, members ex-officio.

Herbert Dyer, well-known "up country" auctioneer of Kingston, N.H., has been secured to wield the gavel. At the present time all members of the Church are being contacted to look over their "attic treasures" for the coming event. There will be items of interest for all, including furniture, children's furniture, china, glassware, latcheware, rags, draperies, linens, lamps, luggage, etc.

There will be a snack-bar operated by the Alpha Phi Chi Sorority, with Mrs. William Emmons and Mrs. Clarence Chapman, as co-chairmen. They will be assisted by the Pilgrim Fellowship, with Miss Susan Slade as chairman. There will be a White Elephant Table sponsored by the King's Daughters, with Mrs. Harold Bendroth as chairman. There will be a "surprise" Grab-table with Mrs. Charles Bennett as chairman.

The Men's Club have "put their shoulder to the wheel" and have taken charge of the moving and pick-up service, with George Glennie and William Meike as co-chairmen.

Acting co-treasurers for the auction have been designated as Miss Gladys Hill and Harold Goddard.

Eager to assist in any way possible will be the various Boy Scouts, Cub Scouts and Girl Scouts, who are sponsored by the Church.

Publicity for the affair is being handled by Mrs. Robert Hatton, chairman, assisted by Miss Marion Hill, Mrs. G.J. Cromie and Mrs. J.A. Word.

D.A.R. Annual Meeting May 13

The April meeting of Priscilla Abbot chapter, N.S.D.A.R. was held at the home of Mrs. Leo V. O'Connor on Highland rd., and was largely a business meeting, as the speaker planned for was unable to be present.

Dessert was served the members by the hostess assisted by the regent, Mrs. Frank Hayes, Mrs. M.M. Jones and Mrs. George Winslow.

The meeting was opened by the regent and patriotic exercises and devotions were led by the chaplain, Mrs. Roland Glines. The secretary's report of the March meeting was read by Mrs. Jones in the place of the regular secretary, Mrs. Edward Thompson, who was unable to attend. Mrs. Hayes substituted for the treasurer, Mrs. Bonner and read her report. Mrs. Roland Weeks, corresponding secretary, read several cards of thanks and acknowledgments from different members. Mrs. E.C. Edmonds reported that the chapter has had about 232 inches of publicity from March 1, 1957 to March 1, 1958.

Mrs. Hayes read several excerpts from the Bay State News and D.A.R. Press Digest, which were of interest and importance to the gathering. Mrs. O'Connor, registrar, told of a transfer of a member and also about the advertising which the chapter, with other chapters in this vicinity, will have in the national magazine in the fall.

Mrs. A. Marshall Jones spoke about the work that is being done for the Indians in Northern Michigan, both in recreation and education. Mrs. Hayes told of the recreation area owned by the D.A.R. in the western part of Massachusetts in Goshen, which was news to many of the members. Mrs. Hayes, and the ex-regent, Mrs. O'Connor, are attending the Continental Congress in Washington this week.

The annual meeting of the chapter will be held May 13 at The Oar and Anchor in No. Reading, at which time the annual reports will be given.

23 FIRMS BID ON CONSTRUCTION

Three other bids came well below the estimate, while the top price of the 23 was $43,651.

There was a general feeling that contractors are feeling a pinch right now and want the work, even if it means just turning the money over. As an example, it was pointed out that a bid of $5 a foot for ledge removal is perhaps a quarter of the price that might normally be charged.

Other low bidders on the project were Frank Frederick Construction Co., Inc., $20,492.75; Wheatland Construction Co., Inc., $20,873.10 and George Kelly of Lowell, $21,535.75.

The project is being done under the major water improvement article voted at the annual town meeting. Some $70,000 was appropriated under the article for major projects.

Involved in this one is 4200 feet of 12-inch main, 2100 feet of 10-inch main and the balance in six-inch main. It will run from Hidden rd. to Elm st. via the Bird Sanctuary, Morton, Chestnut, Stratford, Summer and Pine sts.

The Board concluded an agreement with Phillips Academy for work to be done in the Sanctuary. In general, the conditions are designed to protect anival and plant life in the Sanctuary. The Academy had explained that many kinds of trees and shrubs are growing in the area, which would be difficult to replace if harmed by construction. Thus the excavation must be undertaken down the middle of the road, to protect trees and shrubs. The town also agreed to tunnel under the fences and to keep the mouth of the tunnel closed except when work is actually being done at the spot. Gates must also be kept closed, except when vehicles are going through. Both these requirements are designed to keep dogs out of the area.

ANOTHER DOG PAYS THE PENALTY

Another chicken-slayer – this time a German police dog – has been shot.

Police Sgt. William R. Hickey said officers Gorrie and Porter shot the animal at the poultry farm of Arthur Sevigny on Beacon st. Saturday morning about 6:55. A second dog, also a German police, disappeared before police arrived. Between the two animals, about 500 chickens were killed, the police report said.

The dead animal wore no collar and had no license tag.

Police have urged dog owners to restrain their animals from wandering through the countryside, as any of them caught by owners or police in the act of mollesting chickens or other livestock will be shot.

MORE INFO ON BROOK EXPECTED VERY SOON

Information on Rogers Brook is expected very soon by the Board of Public Works.

It was revealed Monday night that the state Division of Waterways, on the request of the BPW's committee to investigate possible Brook improvements, has continued its exploration of local conditions. The state agency has also been discussing the problem with Clinton Goodwin of Haverhill, who originally drew plans for the Brook improvement.

Chairman Alex Henderson said the Board has been waiting for additional information from its Committee, as a result of the state's continuing investigation.

An exhibition of oils and watercolors by Alica Atkinson of North Andover is on display at the John Esther Art Gallery at Abbot Academy.

Paintings in the exhibition have been done during and since 1955, some in France and some locally.

Alica Atkinson Waterston is president of the local Art Association.

Her art education has included work at the Boston Museum School, Art Students League in New York, Woodstock School in New York and the Fontainebleau School of Fine Arts in Paris.

Andover has representation in each class of the five-year program. Three students are freshmen, two are in the third year class and one each in the second, fourth and fifth year classes.

All are graduates of Punchard High School.

Science Fair Open To Public April 23

The talents of many students at Andover High School will be on display at the annual Science Fair April 23.

The exhibition will be open for the public that evening from 7-10, while judging will take place during the day.

Students have been encouraged to work up an exhibit using their own ingenuity and knowledge. The winner will enter the state fair later this season, held at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

We strongly urge all residents of the town to spend some time the night of April 23 in the science department of the High School to see these creative exhibits.

Our response, if it is enthusiastic, can help to encourage other students to take part in this event next year and in the years to follow.

All of us should make the effort to show our interest in what these students are doing – it isn't enough to sit at home and say how nice it is that someone else took the time to arrange a program of this type.

THESE ARE ONLY A FEW – These three photos show the work of students at Andover High, as they prepare for the Science Fair April 23. Many others are exhibiting their creative projects.

At upper right is Philip Colquhoun, an amateur radio enthusiast. He is experimenting with ultra high frequency short-wave broadcasting. Here, he tests a wave signal with an oscilloscope.

At left is Herbert Kempton, explaining a portion of a binary adding system to the High School Science Club. His hobby is using electromagnetic relays to control the direction of electrical impulses in designing computer circuits.

And at right George Desmet displays the rocket he built for the Fair. The nose cone contains a remote control shutter release for camera and parachute. After a picture is taken, the camera and shute will be ejected safely. (Arthur Danforth)

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Why Just In April?

The Registry of Motor Vehicles has served notice it will suspend licenses of drivers breaking the law – practically any law pertaining to the highways or vehicles themselves – during the month of April.

Under the ruling, many men and women will get three-day suspensions for violations that normally might draw a warning from the Registry. Even equipment defects, if they appear to have occurred long enough in the past to have given the driver a chance to have them corrected, will get the driver a suspension.

The Registry does not indicate that it intends to be arbitrary. If a headlight goes out while the car is being used, or some other defect appears suddenly, the driver will presumably get the normal ticket that requires the car owner to report to the Registry with proof that the defect has been repaired.

Why, we would like to know, is this type of enforcement confined to April?

Wouldn't a rigid enforcement of the laws, even of some of the "petty" ones, eventually result in more highway safety? Certainly anyone suffering a three-day, or longer, suspension for some violation will be careful the next time.

Or at least, that's the way it should work.

As one local enforcement officer commented the other day: "It's the fixes and the politicians that ruin the system".

He made the point that the persons with certain influence in the right places are more than willing to help a citizen whose license has been suspended. Not for any payment, except possibly a vote at election time.

Until this situation is corrected, this officer went on, it is almost hopeless to conduct a campaign of the type now being waged by the Registry. All it will accomplish, this officer believes, will be added calls to the Registry by the politicians and more fixes, in direct proportion to the additional suspensions handed out.

Now this may be true. It is a time-honored custom for an individual to call someone – a legislator, another officer, a local officeholder, anyone in a possible position of influence – whenever his traffic violation has been noted by an officer and trouble may follow. It has reached the point where many men and women are disdainful, for they actually believe all they have to do is call someone, if they get a ticket for a violation. And if that's all there is to it, why bother worrying about being stopped?

We wonder, even with the knowledge that all this fixing goes on, if the Registry couldn't make its enforcement policies stick. It would take some courage on the part of Registry officials in Boston, who would have to say no to many politicians.

But for every frown they received from that source, there would be countless smiles of gratitude from residents of this state, who realize that safety on the highway is more important than votes.

Why not give this enforcement policy a try for a longer period than a month, coupling it with a rigid no-fix policy?

WHICH WOMAN PASSED THE N. P.* TEST?
*NINETY PERCENT
The one at the right of course. You can tell at a glance . . . and that's why the Ninety-Percent Test is so important. Don't think it doesn't matter what you look like at home. Your family and close friends may love and accept you "just as you are" . . . trouble is they may be so used to seeing you in "casual" attire that they may not really see you at all any more.
With just a small assist from us you'll find it an easy matter to "freshen the impression" you make on your own inner circle. . . . Think how gratified they'd be if you tried to look your best for them too.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

Political Slush Fund?

Somehow, to us, the governor's request for a multi-million dollar fund to provide employment in Massachusetts falls flat on its face.

It's necessary to provide employment, to be sure. But is this the way?

Why not speed up such projects as Route 28, part of which is under construction? Couldn't, for example, the governor of this Commonwealth cut the red tape so that the portion of Route 28 north of the river could be started sooner than now anticipated? Outdoor work, during good weather, could provide a lot of jobs for unemployed men.

And in other fields, where the state eventually will buy merchandise, couldn't orders be placed now, to stimulate business and thus employment? Many women, now out of work, would thus have an opportunity to become gainfully employed.

Somehow the $50,000,000 fund requested by the governor smacks of W.P.A.-type thinking. After all, this is election year and what better way is there to win friends and influence people than to pass out jobs by the thousands? We should beware of such huge funds that might be turned into a slush fund for political purposes.

The April committee meeting for Cub Scout Pack 74 was held Thursday evening, April 10, at the home of Mrs. John Cox on Lowell st., with the following members attending: Cubmaster and Mrs. Harold E. McGrath, Bill Westaway, Jim Holt, Charles Gaunt, Bruno Wojtkun, Tom Dixon, Helen Batchelder, Harriet Battles, Arlene Brown, Helen Brumagim, Kathy Stackhouse, Doris Bedard and the hostess Mrs. Hazel Cox.

Tom Dixon was introduced as the new Webelos leader. He will replace Phil Herron, who has resigned.

Miss Penniman Honored By Teachers College

The Alumnae Association of the State Teachers College at Framingham presented their fifth Recognition Day Monday, April 14, in Dwight Auditorium at 2:15 o'clock. Six outstanding graduates were honored before the student body, alumnae and invited guests for their achievements in their field of work, their interest in the Alumnae Association and the College.

The program was opened and closed by the Chapel Choir of the College, directed by Mr. James Savas.

Dr. Martin F. O'Connor, president of the College, welcomed the honored guests and audience. Mrs. Margaret Eagan Cronin, chairman, greeted the group for the Association. Mrs. Hazel Cheever, president of the Alumnae Association, presented the citations to the honored alumnae. Each responded with an interesting note about her career and her love for Framingham.

Miss Annie Penniman, 112 Main st., was one of the honored group. Her citation read:

"Annie Blanche Penniman, teacher and civic-minded citizen, attended Wellesley College and graduated from the Household Arts Department at Framingham Normal School in 1903. She furthered her education during summer courses at Teachers College, Columbia University.

"Following graduation, she taught household arts in the Concord, N.H. school system until she joined the faculty of the Framingham Normal School, where she taught classes in foods and clothing until her retirement in 1920. Later she did substituting at Pine Manor in Wellesley.

"For many years Miss Penniman was the efficient treasurer of our Alumnae Association. She has served in executive capacities in the November Club of Andover, the Historical Society, the Garden Club and the Village Improvement Society.

"Miss Penniman holds membership in the New England Home Economics Association, the American Association of University Women, the College Club, the Women's City Club and the Boston Wellesley Club.

"To Annie B. Penniman, with the greatest esteem and sincere pride, I present this citation in behalf of the Alumnae Association."

May Still Get Rabies Vaccine

The second in a series of rabies vaccine inocculation clinics will be held Saturday, April 26, from 8:30 a.m. to 12 at the Junior High School.

Although many dog owners took advantage of the first clinic and had their dogs vaccinated, the inclement weather of last Saturday kept many owners and their pets indoors.

The Board of Health would like to point out that while Rabies is a somewhat dormant condition at the present time, vaccine protection of dogs is an insurance to the dog owner that his dog cannot contract the disease or infect some human with this condition. Further, a dog bearing a "rabies vaccine tag" is not subject to possible rabies quarantine if it should bite a child.

Since the Town of Andover is one of the few towns or cities in the state offering this type of clinic, dog owners are urged to take advantage of this service so that the local Board of Health will be encouraged to continue this program next year.

Attended Regional Meeting In Boston

Mrs. Angelo Sapienza, Mrs. Frank Santuccio and Mrs. A. Morris Campbell of the Andover District Committee and Mrs. Gordon Lauder, Leader-Sponsor Association chairman, attended the New England Regional Conference of Camp Fire Girls, Inc. held at the Sherry Biltmore Hotel in Boston April 12.

The theme of the annual conference was "Our Golden Jubilee Challenge". As the Camp Fire organization will celebrate its 50th birthday in 1960, the exploration and explanation of the conservation project "The World Around Her", selected to commemorate this event, was given careful consideration.

Among the goals set for 1960 are the following: increased and effective public relations in every council and community; an increased and well informed adult membership of men and women; increased training to further enrich the Camp Fire program; increased tenure of group leadership; emphasis on group organization and earning of the Golden Jubilee Charm by every group in every district and a doubled membership in Region One.
